VISUAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

Painting 1

INSTRUCTOR: Mike Easton

Course Syllabus

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Painting 1 is a foundation course for all first year visual arts students. It is the first in a series of sequential Painting courses required by the department for three or four consecutive years, depending on the student's entry level grade. This is a skills development course designed to strengthen and refine the student's Painting abilities and observational capabilities. Emphasis is placed on hand/eye co-ordination, compositional balance, and the development of three-dimensional (illusional) space on a two-dimensional surface. This is accomplished through a series of studio and homework assignments that incorporate a variety of repeated concepts, processes, techniques, and media designed to refine the student's abilities and bolster their confidence in visual expression.

COURSE OUTLINE:

The students will be given a number of Painting assignments that will introduce the importance of compositional placement within a two-dimensional format/surface along with the development of imagery (using various media) from observation. Students will be trained (through repetition) to recognize and understand the geometry of tangible objects and how to re-create the illusion of those objects on a two-dimensional surface. Beginning with the elements of line, shape, space, and value, the student is guided through varied assignments in image structure. Once the student has successfully mastered monochromatic image structure, color is introduced through dry as well as liquid media, tools and techniques. In this process each student is required to maintain a class room (portfolio) that serves as a continuous barometer of his/her progress and will be used in the evaluation of the individual's grade. Frequent and regular (critiques) are employed in an effort to re-enforce the student's ability to recognize the relative success or lack of success of ongoing work. The principles of art and the elements of design are emphasized in each and every assignment. The concept of artistic perspective is introduced repeatedly in each successive assignment throughout the course as well as an increase in the degree of difficulty of each visual problem to encourage refinement of the student's Painting skills. A classroom textbook is used to provide visual examples and written explanations of various concepts and ideas.
